About Catalyst

Founded in 1962, Catalyst is the leading nonprofit corporate membership research and advisory organization working globally with businesses and the professions to build inclusive environments and expand opportunities for women and business. With offices in New York, Sunnyvale, Toronto, and Zug, and the support and confidence of more than 350 leading corporations, firms, business schools, and associations, Catalyst is connected to business and its changing needs and is the premier resource for information and data about women in the workplace.

About the Catalyst Award

The Catalyst Award is presented annually to companies and firms with outstanding initiatives that result in women's career development and advancement. The Award provides the business community with replicable success models that are good for business and good for women.
